(Reading)

1 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it :

Parents and teachers must learn to respect the children. No Japanese ever strike a child. Yet Japanese children are models of reasonableness. The Japanese maintain a commendable attitude towards their children. They treat children as their equals and always address them as such. They never criticize them harshly. The use of rod is absolutely unknown in Japanese homes. Japanese code of life is very strict in certain respects. It exerts strict obedience and enforces strict respect. Japanese soldiers have earned a name for their high sense of duty and readiness for self-sacrifice. These things come out of a traditional love for their country and its sovereignty, rather than from fear of any penalties in childhood.

(iii) obedience (iv) respect for others
- (d) Give a suitable heading to the passage. 1
- (e) How should parents and teachers treat children ? 2
- (f) How do Japanese parents treat their children ? 2

2 Read the following poem carefully and answer the questions given below :

To laugh is to risk appearing the fool.

To weep is to risk appearing sentimental.

To reach out for another is to risk involvement.

To express feelings is to risk exposing your true self.

To place ideas and dreams before a crowd

is to risk being called naive.

To love is to risk not being loved in return.

To live is to risk dying.

To hope is to risk despair.

To try is to risk failure.

But risk must be taken,

because the greatest hazard

in life is to risk nothing.

The person who risks nothing,

does not grow, has nothing is nothing and becomes nothing.

They may avoid suffering and sorrow,

but they cannot learn, feel, change,

grow, love live.

Chained by their certitude,

They are slaves; they have forfeited their freedom.

Only a person who risks is truly free.

3 Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions given below it :

The ultimate challenge is to make your mind calm. And the ultimate solution is meditation. In today's age, every second person recommends meditation - to the first ! And for a student, there can't be a more powerful technique to improve long term performance in studies.

Calm mind, better retention. Better health, focus and concentration are the obvious benefits. You will realise the benefits, as your practice includes a general sense of well being and happiness and spiritual growth. The "mood" problem can be taken care of by this way - meditation.

There are many types of meditation. The simplest is of course, focussing on breathing. Since your breath is always with you, it can be done any time, any place. But the best is to settle down in a cool place that has dim light and is relatively quiet.

You must focus all your attention on your breathing. Observe your breath as it comes in and goes out. You will see that your mind will tend to wander a lot - but soon you will be able to bring it back on breathing. Don't obstruct thoughts, let them go off. All you need to do is to keep your focus on breathing.

When you try this initially, you'll see how difficult it is to do ! But soon, you'll gain mastery over it and who knows you might end up as a Zen master or a spiritual guru !
