(Reading)

- 1 Read the passage carefully and answer the questions given below it :

Jamshedji Tata wanted to make textiles in Nagpur in the 1800s with the cotton grown there. Nagpur had no textile industry then, and in Manchester Jamshedji was told that Nagpur's weather was not suitable as it was too dry. He said, 'Alright, I will bring the Manchester weather to Nagpur.' He imported humidifiers and started India's first textile mill in 1874.

Jamshedji started the Tata Iron and Steel Company and wanted to export steel rails to Britain. A Britisher called Sir Frederick Upcourt scoffed, "If Tata makes steel rails to British specifications, I will undertake to eat every pound of rail that they make". History stands testimony to the fact that Tatas did manage to make steel rails and export them to Britain. No accounts are available about Upcourt's tryst with gastric challenges. Infact, during World war II British tanks were called Tatanagars because the steel was made in Tatanagar.

10 (Jamshedji pursued his dreams, put together a team, raised the capital, created a product and mainstreamed it.) He did it sitting in India 125 years ago when India's technical capabilities were far less than they grow now. When you dream, surely some of it gets translated into reality! / 10

A century ago, Jamshedji took some foreign visitors to the Majestic Hotel in Mumbai but was denied entrance because he was an Indian. Jamshedji simply resolved to build a hotel that was even finer and which would not discriminate against people based on the colour or race.

Life is not a bed of roses, but a bed of thorns, It is full of dangers and difficulties. In the race of life, we should not be afraid of the risks which is but natural. Success in any work in life goes to those persons who welcome risk. Science would not have made such wonderful achievements if our scientists had not risked their lives and comforts. The more difficult a work is, the harder should be our efforts to perform it. Life is not a smooth sailing. Petty difficulties frighten a weak heart, who is not prepared to take a risk.
